

FILED
SUPREME COURT
STATE OF WASHINGTON
3/16/2021 11:33 AM
BY SUSAN L. CARLSON
CLERK

No. 99331-9

---

SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON

---

RALPH HEINE,

Petitioner,

v.

TIM RUSSELL and ROBERTA RUSSELL; JOHN PURDY; NORMAN
STOW and SARINA STOW; and WILLIE KENDALL,

Respondents.

---

RESPONDENTS TIM AND ROBERTA RUSSELL'S ANSWER TO MEMORANDUM OF AMICI CURIAE

---

John H. Wiegenstein, WSBA #21201
HELLER WIEGENSTEIN PLLC
17791 Fjord Dr NE, Suite 126
Poulsbo, WA 98370-8430
(360) 930-8609
(888) 363-4977 FAX
johnw@hellerwiegenstein.com
Attorney for Tim and Roberta Russell

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
I. INTRODUCTION	1
II. ARGUMENT	1
A. Applying existing Washington law an extinguishment of easements via adverse possession breaks no new ground, presents no injustice, and does not implicate any issue of substantial public interest.	1
B. The “shifting easement” label is not an actual legal theory in and of itself, does not alter established law, and does not support Heine on the facts of this case.	3
C. There is no need to “clarify” the requirements for establishing a prescriptive easement, which are well-settled, and the results of which are always fact-dependent.	5
III. CONCLUSION	6

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES

CASES	PAGE
Barnhart v. Gold Run, Inc. , 68 Wash. App. 417, 843 P.2d 545 (1993)	3, 4
Beebe v. Swerda , 58 Wn. App. 375, 793 P.2d 442 (1990)	2
City of Edmonds v. Williams , 54 Wn. App. 632, 634, 636, 774 P.2d 1241 (1989)	2
Cole v. Laverty , 112 Wn. App. 180, 184, 49 P.3d 924 (2002))	2
Curtis v. Zuck ,	3, 4

65 Wash. App. 377, 829 P.2d 187 (1992)
Hansen v. Davis , 220 P.3d 911 (Alaska 2009),	2
Lingvall v. Bartmess , 97 Wn. App. 245, 982 P.2d 690 (1999)	5
Mueller v. Hoblyn , 887 P.2d 500, 508-09 (Wyo. 1994)	2
Stonier v. Kronenberger , 214 P.3d 41, 45-46 (Or. App. 2009)	2
Timberlane Homeowners Ass’n, Inc. v. Brame , 79 Wn. App. 303, 901 P.2d 1074 (1995)	2

COURT RULES

RAP 13.4	1, 2, 6
RAP 13.4(b)	6

I. INTRODUCTION

The memorandum submitted by amicus tracks the same arguments and authorities already submitted by petitioner Heine. While it is clearly supportive of Heine's position, it offers no new analysis or reasoning as to why review is warranted.

II. ARGUMENT

Amici renew the same arguments, and for the most part cite the same authorities, as Heine did in his petition. But amici do not delve into the facts of the cited authorities, or the facts in the record presented to the Court of Appeals in this case, to show how they match up – because the facts here don't match up with the cases on which Heine and amici rely. More important, amici fail to show how any of the RAP 13.4 grounds for review are present here.

A. Applying existing Washington law an extinguishment of easements via adverse possession breaks no new ground, presents no injustice, and does not implicate any issue of substantial public interest.

Amici's first argument is that application of settled Washington law on extinguishment an easement by adverse possession is somehow wrong or unfair, just because Heine – rather than Purdy – is the person claiming adverse possession.

In support of this, amici recite basic easement law (Amici Memo. at 3-4), but there is no dispute over that body of law, and Heine has already briefed that for this Court. Petition at 10. Amici further characterizes the test for extinguishment of an easement via adverse possession as “a special rule” developed by our courts (Amici Memo. at 3-4, citing Cole v. Laverty, 112 Wn. App. 180, 184, 49 P.3d 924 (2002)). In fact, there is nothing “special” or new about that analysis. It was applied in City of Edmonds v. Williams, 54 Wn. App. 632, 634, 636, 774 P.2d 1241 (1989), Beebe v. Swerda, 58 Wn. App. 375, 383, 793, P.2d 442 (1990), and the same or very similar rule is found in cases from other jurisdictions such as Hansen v. Davis, 220 P.3d 911 (Alaska 2009), Stonier v. Kronenberger, 214 P.3d 41, 45-46 (Or. App. 2009), and Mueller v. Hoblyn, 887 P.2d 500, 508-09 (Wyo. 1994).

Moreover, amici’s discussion of Timberlane Homeowners Ass’n, Inc. v. Brame, 79 Wn. App. 303, 901 P.2d 1074 (1995), mirrors that already provided by Heine (Petition at 11-12), and like Heine ignores the fact that at oral argument below Heine expressly conceded that he only sought fee ownership if he could extinguish the easement rights of his neighbors over that same area. Slip Op. at 4; Russell Answer to Petition at 6.

Most importantly, amici’s arguments as to why the Court of Appeals was “wrong” miss the point: the issue is whether they and Heine can show that RAP 13.4’s criteria for review are met. In that regard, amici’s public policy argument mirrors Heine's (Petition at 19). Amici claims that the Court of Appeals decision makes it easier for a "third party" to extinguish the underlying fee interest via adverse possession, than for a co-dominant estate to extinguish another co-dominant estate's easement rights. But amici do not explain what mystery "third party" this would be, or why this scenario implicates any issue of broad public interest that would warrant review by this Court.

B. The "shifting easement" label is not an actual legal theory in and of itself, does not alter established law, and does not support Heine on the facts of this case.

Amici's second argument, on the so-called "shifting easement" cases, again mirrors what Heine has already submitted (Petition at 18-20) and offers no new rationale for why the Court should revisit the 30 year old cases that amici rely on, Curtis v. Zuck, 65 Wash. App. 377, 829 P.2d 187 (1992) and Barnhart v. Gold Run, Inc., 68 Wash. App. 417, 843 P.2d 545 (1993). As previously explained (Russell's Answer to Petition at 18-19), those cases applied well-established law to facts that showed adverse possession (a house built within the deeded easement), abandonment of the deeded easement, and establishment of a prescriptive easement over another route. Those facts are not presented here, and that is why the trial court and Court of Appeals decisions came out as they did.

And amici likewise parrot Heine's argument that Heine was not seeking to “extinguish” an easement but merely to “relocate” it, without explaining how this could be so when (1) the roadway was always located within the deeded easement, and would – under Heine’s argument – still be located there, and yet (2) another ~20 feet of deeded easement would simply vanish and become Heine’s land, free of any encumbrance. Taking a 30 foot wide easement in which the road has always been located and declaring that the easement it is now only the width of the road is not a “shifting” of an easement, it is the extinguishment of 2/3 of the deeded easement.

Again, at a public interest level, Curtis and Barnhart broke no new ground, and neither did the Court of Appeals here. The phrase “shifting easement” as used in Curtis and Barnhart was merely a colloquial label applied to facts which met the established legal analyses for three separate legal doctrines (abandonment, adverse possession, and prescriptive easement) – no “new” legal theory or analysis was developed in either case. Amici’s bald statement that “The Court of Appeals decision creates uncertainty by casting significant doubt on what had been settled law” (Amici Memo. at 8) is not supported by the facts that are presented here and which drove the Court of Appeals decision. Had the facts been as they were in Curtis or Barnhart then this would be a different case.

C. There is no need to “clarify” the requirements for establishing a prescriptive easement, which are well-settled, and the results of which are always fact-dependent.

Here, too, amici essentially reiterate Heine’s arguments as to why the Court of Appeals was “wrong” in determining that Heine and his predecessors had failed to establish a prescriptive easement over the Russell property. Amici Mem. at 8-9. Amici cite to cases such as Lingvall v. Bartmess, 97 Wn. App. 245, 982 P.2d 690 (1999), where a prescriptive easement over a driveway was found based on Lingvall’s tenants having continuously used the driveway for their day to day sole access, and where Lingvall then built another house that continued to use the same driveway as sole access.

Facts matter. The Russells have already explained why the facts in this case led to the result in the Court of Appeals, and why the “seasonal use” cases are inapposite here. Russell Answer to Petition at 11-13. The “continuous use” cases such as Lingvall are likewise inapposite.

Amici do not and cannot show that the Court of Appeals made up some new law, or otherwise took some action that creates an issue of broad public interest that would warrant review. Nor do amici offer any explanation as to what “clarification” would be warranted or why this Court would change its long-established test for prescriptive easements.

What amici are really arguing is that the Court of Appeals made an error in applying the evidence to the established law of prescriptive easements. That is insufficient to warrant review under RAP 13.4.

III. CONCLUSION

Amici's memorandum adds nothing to Heine's petition, and fails to show any basis under RAP 13.4(b) for having this Court accept review.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED on 16 March 2021.

A handwritten signature in black ink, reading "John H. Wiegstein". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style with a large initial "J" and a long, sweeping underline.

---

John H. Wiegstein, WSBA #21201
HELLER WIEGENSTEIN PLLC
Attorney for Tim and Roberta Russell

CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE

I, Deborah Davies, certify that on March 16, 2021, I caused copies of the foregoing document to be served on the party(s) listed below by the method(s) indicated for each:

Via Appellate Portal:

Sandip Soli, WSBA #29534
Real Property Law Group, PLLC
1326 5th Ave., Ste 654
Seattle, WA 98101

Via Appellate Portal:

Michael B. King, WSBA# 14405
Jason W. Anderson, WSBA# 30512
Carney Badley Spellman, P.S.
701 5th Ave, Ste 3600
Seattle, WA 98104

Via Appellate Portal:

Heather M. Jensen, WSBA#29635
Lewis Brisbois Bisgaard & Smith, LLP
1111 Third Avenue, Ste 2700
Seattle, WA 98101

Via Appellate Portal:

Bruce C. Galloway, WSBA# 15765
Peter C. Rudolf, WSBA# 47791
Galloway Law Group, PLLC
12101 N. Lakeshore Drive
Lake Stevens, WA 98258

Via Appellate Portal:

Cory D. Rein, WSBA #21908
Cogdill Nichols Rein Wartell Andrews
3232 Rockefeller Avenue
Everett, WA 9820

Via Appellate Portal:
Carleton Foss Knappe, WSBA #5697
Knappe and Knappe, Inc.
90 Avenue A
Snohomish, WA 98290

Via Appellate Portal:
Ashley A. Nagrodski, WSBA #40847
Thomas P. McCurdy, WSBA #41568
Jessica R. Kamish, WSBA #48378
Smith Freed Eberhard P.C.
1215 Fourth Avenue, Suite 900
Seattle, WA 98161

Via Appellate Portal:
Will Kendall
14131 242nd Drive SE
Monroe, WA 98272

I certify under penalty of perjury of the laws of the State of Washington that the foregoing statements are true and correct.

DATED March 16, 2021 at Poulsbo, Washington.

---

Deborah Davies
Legal Assistant
HELLER WIEGENSTEIN PLLC

HELLER WIEGENSTEIN PLLC

March 16, 2021 - 11:33 AM

Transmittal Information

Filed with Court: Supreme Court
Appellate Court Case Number: 99331-9
Appellate Court Case Title: Ralph A. Heine v. Tim S. Russell, et al.
Superior Court Case Number: 17-2-04187-2

The following documents have been uploaded:

- 993319_Answer_Reply_Plus_20210316113031SC412158_5182.pdf
This File Contains:
Answer/Reply - Other
Certificate of Service
The Original File Name was 20210316 Russell Answer to Amicus Memorandum.pdf

A copy of the uploaded files will be sent to:

- Logan.Platvoet@lewisbrisbois.com
- anderson@carneylaw.com
- bruce@glgpllc.com
- heather.jensen@lewisbrisbois.com
- jeaninel@hellerwiegenstein.com
- jkamish@smithfreed.com
- king@carneylaw.com
- knappeandknappe@yahoo.com
- mkent@smithfreed.com
- peter@glgpllc.com
- sandip.soli@gmail.com
- ssoli@rp-lawgroup.com
- tmccurdy@smithfreed.com
- wlarson@smithfreed.com

Comments:

---

Sender Name: DEBORAH DAVIES - Email: deborahd@hellerwiegenstein.com

Filing on Behalf of: John Henry Wiegenstein - Email: johnw@hellerwiegenstein.com (Alternate Email: )

Address:
17791 FJORD DR NE
SUITE 126
POULSBO, WA, 98370
Phone: (360) 930-8609

Note: The Filing Id is 20210316113031SC412158