First I would like to say when I went to Fred Meyer's 12-12-2011 I was completely out of my mind loaded on meth, my court appointed attorney Josh Baldwin refused to mention this during my trial, you can tell where my mind was by the randomness of the items I was stealing from Fred Meyer's, among these items was the Coleman Hatchet, Dave Morrison stated that he did not recognize the Hatchet that I assaulted him with, for the purpose of making it seem that I brought the hatchet with me and that I had planned to hurt someone which is completely false, The only thing I intended that day was petty shoplifting, I had been in the store lots of times, if loss prevention was following me I would leave the merchandise and return later, 1 time loss prevention grabbed the shopping cart full of merchandise from me which is within their rights, The day in question 2 loss prevention officers (Actually two large guys in plain cloths I had never been in contact with before ran up behind me when I tried to leave with unpaid for items

They ran up behind me not trying to grab their merchandise but tried to put their hands on my body, I reacted poorly grabbing the hatchet from the cart and swinging blindly, I did not aim for anything I was startled, by two unknown individuals trying to grab me and I reacted poorly, when I would attempt to shoplift on previous dates I knew who the loss prevention officers were, when I was approached I never reacted violently, I was in a crazy state of mind do to the meth I made a terrible split second decision, and blindly swung a hatchet, I never intended to harm anyone, I'm a meth addict I was trying to support my addiction with petty shoplifting.
