Subject: Recording of interviews is so important

I work for a public defender agency handling both felonies and misdemeanors. It is crucial that we have the ability to record the numerous interviews that we do for accuracy and meticulous record keeping.

Not only are the recorded interviews an important tool for the use at upcoming trials but it they are both a time and funding saving tool as well. When we have access to recorded interviews it lessens the time we spend trying to clarify and/or impeach witnesses.

Thank you,
