DISCOVERY—SPECIAL SENTENCING PROCEEDING

Before the guilt phase of the trial begins, pursuant to a schedule set by the court, both parties shall provide discovery, pursuant to CrR 4.7(a) and (b) of evidence that they anticipate offering at the special sentencing proceeding. The trial court has discretion, in accordance with CrR 4.7(h)(4), to defer disclosure of all or part of the defendant's penalty phase evidence until the guilt phase has been completed. This discovery shall, if necessary, be supplemented pursuant to CrR 4.7(h)(2).

[Adopted effective December 30, 1997.]
