SUPREME COURT SYMPOSIUM
LOOKING TO THE FUTURE:
ADOLESCENT BRAIN DEVELOPMENT AND THE JUVENILE JUSTICE SYSTEM
Sponsored by: The Washington State Minority and Justice Commission
Center for Children & Youth Justice, and the MacArthur Foundation

TABLE OF CONTENTS

I. Agenda ................................................................................................................................................... Inside Pocket

II. Speaker Biographies ............................................................................................................................. 1

III. Adolescent Brain Development—What We Know About Adolescent Brains and Behavior, Dr. BJ Casey
    i. Rewiring Juvenile Justice: The Intersection of Developmental Neuroscience and Legal Policy ...... 2
    ii. The Teenage Brain: An Overview ...................................................................................................... 2
    iii. The Teenage Brain: Self Control ..................................................................................................... 2

IV. Overview of U.S. Supreme Court Cases—The Evolving Jurisprudence Being Adopted by the Court on Juveniles, Marsha Levick
    i. The United States Supreme Court Adopts a Reasonable Juvenile Standard in J.D.B v. North Carolina
       For Purposes of the Miranda Custody Analysis: Can a More Reasoned Justice System for Juveniles be Far Behind? .................................................................................................................................. 3
    ii. Kids Really Are Different: Looking Past Graham v. Florida ............................................................. 3
    iii. J.D.B. v. North Carolina: The U.S. Supreme Court Heralds the Emergence of the ‘Reasonable Juvenile’ in American Criminal Law .................................................................................................................. 3
    iv. From a Trilogy to a Quadrilogy: Miller v. Alabama Makes it Four in a Row for U.S. Supreme Court Cases That Support Differential Treatment of Youth ............................................................................ 3

V. Models of Diversion Away From the System, Dan Satterberg & Doug Wheeler; Pat Escamilla & Christine Simonsmeier
   i. Restorative Justice: The Call to Be Creative ......................................................................................... 4

VI. Moving Forward—Positive Efforts Towards Reducing Racial and Ethnic Disparities in the Juvenile Justice System, Micah Bateman-Iino & Pilar Herrero ............................................................... 5

VII. Racial and Ethnic Disparities in the Juvenile Justice System: Implementation of the OJJDP 2013
    Statewide DMC Assessment, Ryan Pinto, Rand Young, Michael Pullman, and the Washington State Partnership Council ....................................................................................................................................................... 6

VIII. Other Relevant Articles on Juvenile Justice Policy
    i. Auto Decline: The Effectiveness of Declining Juvenile Court Jurisdiction of Youth .......................... 7
    ii. Juvenile Shackling: Should Kids go to Court in Chains? .................................................................. 8