Pursuant to RAP 10.8, the State of Washington cites the following as additional authority on questions raised by a number of justices during oral argument about studies on interventions for juvenile offenders or at-risk youth:

- 1) Washington State Adult and Juvenile Recidivism Trends: FY 1995–FY 2014 (March 2019)

p. 16: “Recidivism for youth committed to a JR facility declined [between 1995 and 2014] more than recidivism for youth sentenced to local sanctions.”

p. 16: “Recidivism declined [between 1995 and 2014] for all racial groups.”

p. 21: “Youth committed to a JR facility for a violent felony offense had slightly larger reductions in recidivism [between 1995 and 2014] than youth committed to a JR facility for a non-violent felony offense.” (italics added)

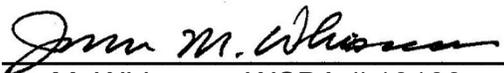

p. 51 “...Starting in FY1999, all four racial groups showed generally consistent declines in recidivism, with more rapid declines in recidivism beginning in FY09.”

p. 51 “The percent decrease in recidivism was consistent for White and Black/African American youth released from confinement in a JR facility. Both groups showed gradual declines in the rates of recidivism from FY95-FY14, with greater percent decreases beginning in FY09.”

2) Updated Inventory of Evidence-Based, Research-Based, and Promising Practices: For Prevention and Intervention Services for Children and Juveniles in the Child Welfare, Juvenile Justice, and Mental Health Systems (December 2018).

Dated this 5th day of April, 2019.
