INTRODUCTION

This is an unlawful detainer action. The tenancy was residential. Appellant is the landlord. Respondent is the tenant. Thurston County Superior Court Commissioner Rebekah Zinn heard an ex parte motion brought by the tenant seeking a stay of execution of a writ of restitution and granted a stay.¹ Under RCW 59.18.390(1), as a condition precedent to a stay, the tenant must post a bond. The court waived the bond. There are two overarching issues: First, does a court have authority to hear an ex parte motion to stay execution of a writ of restitution. Second, does a court have authority to waive the bond.

ASSIGNMENTS OF ERROR

1. The court erred when it heard the ex parte motion to stay execution of the writ and granted the stay.
2. The court erred when it waived the bond required by RCW 59.18.390(1).

ISSUES PERTAINING TO THE ASSIGNMENTS OF ERROR

1. Although the case is moot, is the test for hearing a moot case met? (Assignments of error 1 and 2).
2. Were the tenant's motion, supporting documents and argument ex parte communication prohibited by Canon 2.9(A) of the Code of Judicial Conduct? (Assignment of error 1).
3. Was the tenant's motion properly before the court under CR5(a)? (Assignment of error 1).
4. Was the stay void ab initio under the common law? (Assignment of error 1).
5. Were the hearing and the stay ultra vires under RCW 59.18.390(1)? (Assignments of error 1 and 2).
6. Was the landlord denied procedural due process? (Assignment of error 1).
7. Did the hearing violate Canon 2.6(A) of the Code of Judicial Conduct? (Assignment of error 1).
8. Is the landlord entitled to attorney fees on appeal? (Assignments of error 1 and 2).

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The deadline for receipt of an answer to the complaint was September 15, 2016 (CP 3). Landlord's counsel did not receive a timely answer (CP 16 - 17). On September 16, the court entered an order of default and judgment (CP 18 - 22). The judgment granted a writ of restitution (CP 21 line 9). The writ was posted by the sheriff September 19 (CP 75). That day, the tenant brought an ex parte motion to stay execution of the writ (CP 24).² Landlord's counsel had no notice of the motion or the hearing (CP 40 lines 13 - 14). The court stayed execution of the writ on the basis that "the defendant alleges she answered before this case was filed and default taken" (CP 24 lines 16 - 17).

The tenant prepared an answer dated September 9, but did not mail it until September 14, the day before the deadline for receipt of an answer (CP 42 - 45, CP 83 lines 7 - 9). Landlord's counsel received the answer September 20 (CP 82 lines 9 - 10). That was five days after the deadline for receipt of the answer, four days after the order of default and judgment were entered, and one day after the writ was posted by the sheriff (CP3, CP 18 - 22 and CP 75).

There is no verbatim report of the ex parte hearing. A court reporter is not present during the ex parte calendar and the hearings are not recorded.

As a condition precedent to a stay, RCW 59.18.390(1) requires a tenant who obtains a stay to post a bond set by the court. The court waived the bond and set a show cause hearing (CP 24). At the show cause hearing the court held that “the defendant did not present a legally sufficient defense to the complaint,” lifted the stay and granted a supplemental judgment of $1,662 for attorney fees and costs (CP 82 lines 20 - 21, CP 83 line 18 and CP 84 lines 5 - 7). The writ was then executed (CP 75).

FACTS PERTINENT TO WHETHER THE COURT SHOULD HEAR THIS MOOT CASE

The longstanding policy of the Thurston County superior court bench is to hear motions to stay execution of writs of restitution ex parte (Appendix “A” page 1 line 16 - page 2 line 1).³ Since 2012, at least ten ex parte motions to stay execution of a writ of restitution were entertained without notice to landlord’s counsel.⁴ In nine of those instances, landlord’s counsel had no opportunity to oppose the motion.⁵ In one instance, landlord's counsel happened to be in the courtroom for an unrelated matter and was able to oppose the motion (Appendix "B" page 2 line 17 - page 3 line 5). That motion was denied (Id. page 3 lines 2 - 3 and Exhibit "D" thereto). In the nine other instances a stay was granted.⁶

³ In an order entered February 17, 2017, the Court of Appeals Commissioner authorized Appellant to supplement the record with declarations of attorneys Mary Ann Strickler and Michael G. Gusa. The declarations are attached hereto as Appendix “A” and “B” respectively.

The practice of the Thurston County bench is to waive the bond required by RCW 59.18.390(1)(Appendix "A" page 2 lines 2 - 3). In the nine instances that a stay was granted, the court did not require a bond.⁷ This practice is evidenced by the form order often used by the court which states "Bond is waived until the hearing on the merits of this motion" (CP24 and Appendix "A," declaration of Strickler" and Exhibits "B," "D," "E" and "F" thereto). At two bench bar meetings, the bar objected to granting stays ex parte and to waiving the bond under RCW 59.28.390(1) with no result (Appendix "A declaration of Strickler page 2 lines 5 - 6).

ARGUMENT

1. ALTHOUGH THE CASE IS MOOT, THE TEST FOR HEARING A MOOT CASE IS MET

This case is moot. It became moot when the sheriff executed the writ.

However, the case raises important issues involving interpretation and application of the Code of Judicial Conduct, the civil rules, RCW 59.18.390(1), the common law, and the due process clauses of both the Washington and United States constitutions.

Appellate courts have discretion to review cases that are technically moot but involve “issues of continuing and substantial public interest.” In re Detention of M.W., 185 Wn.2d 633, 648, 374 P.3d 1123 (2016) (citing State v. Beaver, 184 Wn.2d 321, 330, 358 P.3d 385 (2015)). When considering whether a case involves issues of continuing and substantial public interest a court looks at three factors:

(1) the public or private nature of the question presented, (2) the desirability of an authoritative determination for the future guidance of public officers, and (3) the likelihood of future recurrence of the question.

Id. (citing State v. Hunley, 175 Wn.2d 901, 907, 287 P.3d 584 (2012)).

Moot cases heard on appeal usually involve constitutional or statutory interpretation. In re Mines, 146 Wn.2d 279, 285, 45 P.3d 535 (2002). Such issues tend to be more public in nature, are more likely to recur, and the decisions help guide public officials. Id. In Kim v. Lakeside Adult Family Home, 185 Wn.2d 532, 554, 374 P.3d 121 (2016) the supreme court reasoned that a moot issue should be reviewed, in part, because a similar issue had been raised at least once before. The issues are public issues. Authoritative determination will provide important guidance to judicial officers.

Counsel has found no case authority that directly addresses whether under the Code of Judicial Conduct, the civil rules, the common law, RCW 59.18.390(1) and the due process clauses of the Washington and United States constitutions, a court has authority to hear an ex parte motion to stay a writ. Whether the court has authority to waive the bond required by RCW 59.18.390(1) is an issue of first impression.

Since 2012, the Thurston county Superior Court bench has entertained at least ten ex parte motions to stay execution of a writ of restitution when landlord's counsel had no prior notice.⁸ In nine of the instances, landlord's counsel had no opportunity to oppose the motion.⁹ In the tenth, landlord's counsel happened to be in the courtroom for an unrelated matter and was able ⁸ See footnote 4.

In the nine instances when landlord’s counsel had no opportunity to oppose the motion, a stay was granted.¹⁰ The one time that landlord’s counsel had an opportunity to argue against a stay, the motion was denied (Appendix “B” page 2 line 17 - page 3 line 5 and Exhibit “D” thereto). In the nine instances when a stay was granted, the court did not require a bond.¹¹ These issues will undoubtedly recur in the future. They are matters of continuing and substantial public interest that are public in nature and for which authoritative determination is highly desirable.

A court can also “consider the likelihood” that unless the case is heard, “the issue will escape review because the facts of the controversy are short lived.” Marriage of Horner, 151 Wn.2d 884, 892, 93 P.3d 124 (2004)(citing Westerman v. Cary, 125 Wn.2d 277, 287, 892 P.2d 1067 (1994)). These issues have escaped review for more than a decade (Appendix “A” page 4 lines 3 - 4). If this case is not heard, these issues will probably continue to escape review. Moreover, because this case has been fully adjudicated, there is a complete record. That would not exist in a future case considered on discretionary review. The test for hearing a moot case is met. Review is well warranted.

¹⁰ See footnote 5.

¹¹ See footnote 5.

2. THE STANDARD OF REVIEW IS DE NOVO

A court reviews “both the interpretation and the application of court rules de novo.” In re Dependency of M.H.P., 184 Wn.2d 741, 753, 364 P.3d 94 (2015)(citing State v. McEnroe, 174 Wn.2d 795, 800, 279 P.3d 861 (2012)). The meaning of a statute is a question of law that is reviewed de novo. Jongeward v. BNSF R. Co., 174 Wn.2d 586, 592, 278 P.3d 157 (2012)(citing State v. Breazeale, 144 Wn.2d 829, 837, 31 P.3d 1155 (2001)). A claim of denial of a constitutional right is reviewed de novo. State v. Drum, 168 Wn.2d 23, 31, 225 P.3d 237 (2010)(citing Brown v. State, 155 Wn.2d 254, 261, 119 P.3d 341 (2005)). Review is de novo.

3. PRINCIPLES FOR INTERPRETATION OF STATUTES AND COURT RULES

“When the words in a statute are clear and unequivocal” the court must “assume the Legislature meant exactly what it said and apply the statute as written.” Town of Woodway v. Snohomish County, 180 Wn.2d 165, 174, 322 P.3d 1219 (2014). A court cannot add words to or delete words from a statute. State v. J.P., 149 Wn.2d 444, 450, 69 P.3d 318 (2003)). All the language used by the legislature is “given effect, without rendering any part of the statute meaningless or superfluous.” Id. Court rules are interpreted using the same principles. Jafar v. Webb, 177 Wn.2d 520, 527, 303 P.3d 1042 (2013).

4. THE COURT CONSIDERED PROHIBITED EX PARTE COMMUNICATION

The tenant’s motion, supporting documents and argument were prohibited ex parte communication. Ex parte communication is communication made by or to a judicial officer without prior notice to a party. State v. Watson, 155 Wn.2d 574, 579, 122 P.3d 903 (2005)(citing State v. Bourgeois, 133 Wn.2d 389, 407 - 408, 945 P.2d 1120 (1997)).

Canon 2.9(A) of the Code of Judicial Conduct, which governs ex parte communication, provides that:

A judge shall not initiate, permit, or consider ex parte communications made to the judge outside the presence of the parties or their lawyers, concerning a pending or impending matter before that judge’s court except as follows:

(1) When circumstances require it, ex parte communication for scheduling, administrative, or emergency purposes, which does not address substantive matters, or ex parte communication pursuant to a written policy or rule for a mental health court, drug court, or other therapeutic court, is permitted, provided:

(a) the judge reasonably believes that no party will gain a procedural, substantive, or tactical advantage as a result of the ex parte communication ...

In State v. Davis, 175 Wn.2d 287, 290 P.3d 43 (2012) the trial court “on his own and without consulting the parties,” decided to change a trial date. Id. at 304. Later, the judge asked deputy prosecuting attorneys to prepare a revised scheduling order, “approve it, and then give defense counsel a copy for signature.” Id. Former Canon 3(A)4 (1995) prohibited “judges from engaging in ex parte contact”. Id. at 305. The court denied the defendant’s motion to recuse due to the ex parte contact. Id.

On appeal, the defendant argued that the court abused its discretion by refusing to recuse. Id. The state conceded that ex parte contact occurred, but denied that the contact required recusal. Id. There was no showing of bias on the part of the judge or prejudice to the defendant. Id. at 307. In the absence of such a showing, the supreme court held that the judge’s decision not to recuse was not reversible error. Id. at 309.

Here, because landlord’s counsel had no notice of the hearing, the motion, the supporting documents and the tenant’s argument were prohibited ex parte communication unless an exception in Canon 2.9(A) applied. Subsection (1) of the Canon allows “ex parte communication for scheduling, administrative, or emergency purposes. Setting the show cause hearing was allowed scheduling. Granting the stay was not scheduling or an administrative purpose.

The tenant may well have claimed that the situation was an emergency. However, the tenant's decision to wait five days to mail her answer and to mail it the day before the deadline for its receipt resulted in a situation of the tenant's own making. In any event, ex parte communication for "emergency purposes" is allowed only if the communication does "not address substantive matters". A stay is certainly a substantive matter.

Moreover, ex parte communication for emergency purposes is allowed only if the judicial officer "reasonably believes that no party will gain a procedural, substantive, or tactical advantage as a result of the ex parte communication." The stay was itself an advantage. It allowed the tenant to remain in the dwelling, and do so without paying rent. The court could not reasonably have believed that a stay was not a procedural, substantive or tactical advantage. The exception that allows ex parte communication for scheduling, administrative, or emergency purposes did not apply. The motion, supporting documents and argument were prohibited ex parte communication.

5. UNDER CR5(a) THE MOTION WAS NOT PROPERLY BEFORE THE COURT

CR5(a) states that “every written motion other than one which may be heard ex parte ... shall be served upon each of the parties.” As discussed in § 4 above, the motion for a stay was prohibited ex parte communication. CR 5(a) is clear on its face. Notice of the motion and the hearing were required. Notice may not be dispensed with. Marriage of Mahalingam, 21 Wn. App. 228, 230, 584 P.2d 971 (rehearing denied 1978) citing Loveless v. Yantis, 82 Wn.2d 754, 513 P.2d 1023 (1973)). The motion was not properly before the court. The proper course was to set a hearing on shortened time and require service on landlord’s counsel.

6. THE STAY WAS VOID AB INITIO UNDER THE COMMON LAW

Under the common law, the stay was void ab initio. An order “based on a hearing in which there was not adequate notice or opportunity to be heard is void.” Esmieu v. Schrag, 88 Wn.2d 490, 497, 563 P.2d 203 (1977). Because landlord’s counsel had no notice of the hearing and no opportunity to be heard, the stay was void ab initio.

7. THE STAY WAS ULTRA VIRES UNDER RCW 59.18.390(1)

A. The Stay Was Ultra Vires Because The Court Waived The Required Bond

Under RCW 59.18.390(1), a tenant who wishes to stay a writ and continue to occupy the premises while the litigation is pending must post a bond. Housing Authority v Pleasant, 126 Wn. App. 382, 390, 109 P.3d 422 (2005), Stoebuck and Weaver, 17 Washington Practice Real Estate: Property Law Second ed. § 6.81 page 450 (2004). RCW 59.18.390(1) provides that:

The sheriff shall, upon receiving the writ of restitution, forthwith serve a copy thereof upon the defendant, his or her agent, or attorney, or a person in possession of the premises, and shall not execute the same for three days thereafter, and the defendant, or person in possession of the premises within three days after the service of the writ of restitution may execute to the plaintiff a bond to be filed with and approved by the clerk of the court in such sum as may be fixed by the judge, with sufficient surety to be approved by the clerk of the court, conditioned that they will pay to the plaintiff such sum as the plaintiff may recover for the use and occupation of the premises, or any rent found to be due, together with all damages the plaintiff may sustain by reason of the defendant occupying or keeping possession of the premises, together with all damages which the court theretofore has awarded to the plaintiff as provided in this chapter, and also all the costs of the action.

The purpose of the bond “is to secure the landlord against losses during the pendency of the proceedings when the tenant continues to occupy the premises.” Pleasant, 126 Wn. App. at 390. RCW 59.18.390(1) is clear on its face. A bond is required when a court stays a writ. Nothing in the language of RCW 59.18.390(1) authorizes the trial court to waive the bond. Nonetheless, the court waived the bond (CP 24 line 25).

When the court later lifted the stay it entered a supplemental judgment of $1,662 for attorney fees and costs of suit (CP 81 - 84). By waiving the bond, the court deprived the landlord of the means of satisfying the judgment mandated by the statute. The very fate that the legislature sought to avoid.

B. The Stay Was Ultra Vires Because The Landlord Did Not Have Statutorily Required Notice Of The Hearing And Opportunity To Be Heard Regarding The Bond

Separate and distinct from CR5(a), RCW 59.18.390(1) provides that:

The plaintiff, his or her agent or attorneys, shall have notice of the time and place where the court or judge thereof shall fix the amount of the defendant’s bond, and shall have notice and a reasonable opportunity to examine into the qualification and sufficiency of the sureties upon the bond before the bond shall be approved by the clerk.

The statute is clear on its face. The landlord is entitled to notice of the hearing and an opportunity to be heard regarding the bond. By hearing the ex parte motion the court deprived the landlord of the notice and opportunity to be heard to which he was statutorily entitled. Nothing in RCW 59.18.390(1) allows the court to waive these rights.

In State v. Schwab, 103 Wn.2d 542, 551, 693 P.2d 108 (1985) the supreme court opined that the history of the Residential Landlord-Tenant Act “shows the care exercised by the Legislature in writing the act and in delineating the specific rights, duties and remedies of both landlords and tenants.” By hearing the motion ex parte and waiving the bond, the court ignored this careful delineation of the rights of the landlord and tenant.

8. THE COURT DENIED THE LANDLORD THE RIGHT TO BE HEARD ACCORDING TO LAW

Canon 2.6(A) of the Code of Judicial Conduct states that “A judge shall accord to every person who has a legal interest in a proceeding, or that person’s lawyer, the right to be heard according to law.” By hearing prohibited ex parte communication as discussed in § 4 above, the court denied the landlord his right to be heard. As discussed in § 5 above, the court denied landlord the right to be heard under CR5(a). As discussed in § 6 above, the court denied the landlord the common law right to be heard. As discussed in § 7(B) above, the court denied the landlord the right to be heard regarding the bond. In this manner the court denied the landlord his right to be heard according to law and violated Canon 2.6(A).

9. THE LANDLORD WAS DENIED PROCEDURAL DUE PROCESS

Article I, section 3 of the Washington Constitution guarantees that “[n]o person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law.” The United States Constitution guarantees that state government will not deprive an individual of life, liberty, or property without due process of law. State v. Shelton, 194 Wn. App. 660, 666, 378 P.3d 230 (2016). The procedural elements of the constitutional guarantee of Article 1 § 3 of the Washington State Constitution are “notice and the opportunity to be heard and defend.” Esmieu v. Schrag, 15 Wn. App. 260, 265, 548 P.2d 581 (1976)(Affd. 88 Wn.2d at 490 (1977)).

Notice and an opportunity to be heard on matters that “materially affect a litigant’s rights are essential elements of due process that may not be disregarded.” Marriage of Mahalingam, 21 Wn. App. at 230. Orders entered in a proceeding that fails to afford procedural due process are void. Marriage of Ebbighausen, 42 Wn. App. 99, 102, 708 P.2d 1220 (1985). Because the landlord did not have notice of the hearing and an opportunity to be heard, the hearing did not afford procedural due process and the order is void.

10. THE LANDLORD WAS SUBSTANTIALLY PREJUDICED

A party is prejudiced by a lack of actual notice and opportunity to provide countervailing oral argument and submit authority. Zimny v. Lovric, 59 Wn. App. 737, 740, 801 P.2d 259 (1990)(citing Goucher v. J.R. Simplot Co., 104 Wn.2d 662, 665, 709 P.2d 774 (1985)). Having no opportunity to argue and submit authority that there was no basis for a stay, and that if a stay was granted a bond was required, the landlord was substantially prejudiced.

11. THE LANDLORD IS ENTITLED TO ATTORNEY FEES AND COSTS ON APPEAL

When a rental agreement provides that the prevailing party is entitled to reasonable attorney fees and costs, that includes attorney fees and costs on appeal. Western Plaza v. Tison, 184 Wn.2d 702, 718, 364 P.3d 76 (2015). Under paragraph 12 of the rental agreement, the landlord is entitled to attorney fees (CP 13).

CONCLUSION

The supreme court recently observed that:

The proper functioning of the adversary system depends on both parties having an opportunity to be heard when the court makes decisions related to a case. Failing to apprise all parties of pending motions can result in the court's making errors.

In re Dependency of M.H.P., 184 Wn.2d at 763. This case shows the harm that can result when a party is denied notice of a hearing and an opportunity to be heard, and when a court waives a party's statutory rights without a lawful basis to do so. If a court can waive notice and an opportunity to be heard before staying a writ, and when granting a stay can waive the bond required by RCW 59.18.390(1), what right possessed by a landlord is beyond the power of a court to waive?

The landlord respectfully requests the court enter a published opinion which holds that there is no lawful basis to hear ex parte motions to stay writs of restitution and no lawful basis to waive the bond required by RCW 59.18.390(1).

I am an attorney. Landlord - tenant law is the primary focus of my practice. Although this case is moot, I urge the Court of Appeals to hear the important issues it presents.

I typically have around 50 unlawful detainer cases in Thurston county each year. I am thoroughly familiar with the policies and practices of the Thurston County Superior Court in unlawful detainer cases. The policy of the Thurston County Superior Court is to hear motions to stay execution of writs of restitution ex parte. In the last ten years I have never received notice of any kind prior to a hearing on a motion for a stay. A handful of lawyers do most of the unlawful detainer work for landlords. We talk. I am generally aware of their experiences. To my knowledge, in the last ten years, no plaintiff's lawyer has received notice of any kind before a motion for a stay was 1 heard.

2 In RCW 59.18.390(1) the Residential Landlord-Tenant Act requires a bond as a condition
3 precedent to granting a stay. The practice of the Thurston County bench is to waive the bond. When 4 granting a stay the court customarily uses a pre-printed form order which states "Bond is waived
5 until the hearing on the merits of this motion." At bench bar meetings, the bar has objected to 6 granting stays ex parte and to waiving the bond, with no result.

7 Since 2012, tenants obtained stays in at least six of my cases. On September 20, 2012, I
8 obtained a default judgment and writ of restitution in Thurston County cause 12-2-01931-0. After 9 the writ was posted by the Sheriff, the defendant appeared ex parte, without notice to me, and 10 obtained a stay. A copy of the order signed by Commissioner Zinn is attached hereto as Exhibit "A".
11 I had no opportunity to oppose the motion. The court did not require the defendant to post the bond
12 required by statute (Id.). The defendant failed to appear at an October 5 hearing and the stay was 13 lifted.

14 On August 9, 2013, an agreed order was entered in Thurston County cause 13-2-01585-1
15 that allowed the tenant to remain at the premises and make payments on back rent owed. The order
16 allowed entry of an ex parte order of default and issuance of a writ upon affidavit of counsel that the 17 agreement was breached. On October 31, the court granted a writ based upon the defendant's breach.
18 After the writ was posted by the Sheriff, the defendant appeared ex parte without notice to me and 19 obtained a stay. A copy of the order signed by Commissioner Zinn is attached hereto as Exhibit "B".
20 I had no opportunity to oppose the motion. The court waived the required bond (Id. page 1 line 23).
21 At a November 15 hearing, the court found that the tenant had no defense and quashed the stay.

1 On February 5, 2014, in Thurston County cause 14-2-00224-3 I obtained a default judgment
2 and writ of restitution. After the Sheriff posted the writ, the defendant appeared ex parte, without 3 notice to me, and obtained a stay. A copy of the order signed by Judge Dixon is attached hereto as 4 Exhibit "C". I had no opportunity to oppose the motion. The court did not require the defendant to 5 post a bond. The defendant failed to appear at a February 14 show cause hearing and the stay was 6 quashed.

7 On May 23, 2014, in Thurston County cause 14-2-00943-4 the parties entered into a
8 stipulation. On July 14, a judgment was entered and a writ granted based upon the defendant's
9 failure to comply with the stipulation. After the Sheriff posted the writ, the defendants appeared ex
10 parte, without notice to me, and obtained a stay. A copy of the order signed by Commissioner Zinn
11 is attached hereto as Exhibit "D". The order waived the required bond (Id. page 1 line 25). I had no
12 opportunity to oppose the motion. At an August 1 hearing the stay was quashed.

13 On July 8, 2014, in Thurston County cause 14-2-01316-4 I obtained a default judgment and
14 a writ. After the Sheriff posted the writ, the defendants appeared ex parte, without notice to me, and 15 obtained a stay. A copy of the order signed by Commissioner Zinn is attached hereto as Exhibit "E".
16 I had no opportunity to oppose the motion. The order waved the required bond (Id. page 1 line 25).
17 On July 25, the court set the matter for trial on the condition that the tenants tender one month's rent
18 into the court registry. When the tenants failed to make that tender, the court quashed the stay.

19 On July 24, 2015, in Thurston County cause 15-2-01402-9 I obtained a default judgment and
20 a writ. After the Sheriff posted the writ, the defendants appeared ex parte, without notice to me, and 21 obtained a stay. A copy of the order signed by Commisioner Zinn is attached hereto as Exhibit "F".
22 I had no opportunity to oppose the motion. The order waived the required bond (Id. page 1 line 25).

1 On August 14, the court lifted the stay.

2 The issues raised in the appeal are matters of continuing and substantial public interest that
3 are public in nature and for which authoritative determination is highly desirable. These issues have 4 escaped review for more than a decade. Unless this case is heard these issues are likely to continue
5 to escape review because unlawful detainer cases are tried quickly and quickly become moot,
6 precluding interlocutory review. I respectfully request that the Court of Appeals hear this case.

No. 13-2-01585-1
ORDER STAYING WRIT OF RESTITUTION AND ORDERING SHOW
CAUSE HEARING
(Clerk's Action Required)

The court has reviewed this file and pleadings presented to it, including the motion to stay execution of the writ of restitution. The court finds good cause to stay execution of the writ of restitution until a hearing can be held on this matter. Specifically, the tenant shows that she may have a defense to the claim that she violated the agreed order because she allegedly paid October rent on time.

Therefore, it is hereby ordered that the writ of restitution is stayed until Friday, November 15, 2013 at 5:00 p.m. The parties shall appear before the unlawful detainer judge at Thurston County Superior Court at 10:00 a.m. on November 15, 2013. At the hearing, the tenant shall show cause why this stay shall not be lifted. The parties may agree to continue the hearing and continue the duration of the stay until a hearing can be held. Bond is waived until the hearing on the merits of this motion.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

No. 14-2-00943-4
ORDER STAYING EXECUTION OF WRIT OF RESTITUTION AND
ORDERING SHOW CAUSE HEARING
EX PARTE

(Clerk's Action Required)

The court has reviewed this file and pleadings presented to it, including the motion to stay execution of the writ of restitution. The court finds good cause to stay execution of the writ of restitution until a full hearing can be held with notice to the plaintiff. Specifically, the court finds: there is a disputed issue of whether the stipulation was complied with. The court notes that the plaintiff filed a declaration of counsel only, not a declaration by the landlord, to support noncompliance.

Therefore, it is hereby ordered that the writ of restitution is stayed until Friday, August 1, 2014 at 5 p.m. The parties shall appear before the unlawful detainer judge at Thurston County Superior Court, 2000 Lakeridge Drive NW, Building Two, Olympia, Washington 98502 at 10:00 a.m. on August 1, 2014. At the hearing, the tenant/occupant shall show cause why the writ of restitution should be vacated or the stay should continue. The parties may agree to continue the hearing and continue the duration of the stay. The tenant/occupant must timely serve a copy of this order on the plaintiff and must file proof of service. Bond is waived until the hearing on the merits of this motion. Mr. Keller alleges that he is having hip surgery on Tuesday and will be disabled 6 weeks. Signed in open court on July 17, 2014. The court advised him to work with Ms. Strickler on a continuance and/or seek a disability accommodation through court administration.

I am the attorney for the Appellant. Landlord - tenant law is a primary focus of my practice.

14

Most of my cases are in Thurston county. Although this case is moot, I urge the Court of Appeals to hear the important issues it presents. To the extent that it is within my knowledge, I adopt and 16 incorporate herein the declaration of attorney Mary Ann Strickler. In the last ten years I have never received notice of any kind prior to a hearing where a motion to stay execution of a writ of restitution

15

17

18 was heard.

19

In 2016, a tenant obtained stays of two separate writs granted in one case, Hawthorne v.

20

Pomerleau, Thurston County cause 16-2-00038-34. That case is before the Court of Appeals in 1 cause 49588-1-II. In that case, a judgment granted a writ of restitution. After the writ was posted

2 by the sheriff, without notice to me, the tenant brought an ex parte motion for a stay. Commissioner
3 Zinn granted the stay, waived the bond required by RCW 59.18.390(1) and set a February 12 show
4 cause hearing. A copy of the order is attached hereto as Exhibit "A".

5 During the show cause hearing, the tenant claimed that she was not served. To resolve that 6 claim without an evidentiary hearing, the court ordered the landlord to re-serve a summons and 7 complaint. The tenant was again served with a summons and a complaint and subsequently ordered
8 to appear March 4 and show cause why a judgment should not be entered and a writ should not be 9 issued. At that hearing, a second writ was granted. After that writ was posted by the sheriff, without 10 notice to me, the tenant sought another stay ex parte. Commissioner Zinn again granted a stay,
11 waived the required bond and set a March 16 show cause hearing. A copy of the order is attached
12 hereto as Exhibit "B". At the show cause hearing the court lifted the stay and the writ was executed.

13 The tenant was subsequently ordered to show cause why she should not be held in contempt.
14 During the contempt hearing the court held the tenant in contempt of court, finding that statements
15 the tenant made in prior hearings "were false and she knew they were false." A copy of the order
16 on show cause is attached hereto as Exhibit "C".

17 In AFE-Evergreen Limited Partnership v. Maher, Thurston County cause 16-2-02211-34, 18 a writ was granted after contested hearings June 17, 2016 and July 1 during which the defendant was 19 represented by counsel. After the writ was posted by the Sheriff, without notice to me, the defendant
20 appeared ex parte and sought a stay. Judge Anne Hirsch entertained the motion. Fortuitously, I
21 happened to be in the courtroom to present a motion in an unrelated matter. Initially, I did not

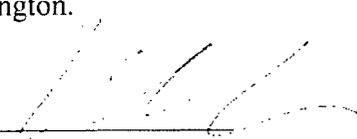

1 recognize Ms. Maher or realize who was seeking the stay. However, when Judge Hirsch addressed
2 Ms. Maher by name I realized what was happening and asked to be heard. The court allowed me to
3 argue against the motion and it was denied. A copy of the order that denied the motion is attached
4 hereto a Exhibit "D". Had I not happened to be in the courtroom and realize what was happening,
5 I would have had no opportunity to oppose the motion.

6 The issues raised in this appeal are matters of continuing and substantial public interest that
7 are public in nature and for which authoritative determination is highly desirable. These issues have 8 escaped review for years. Unless this case is heard these issues are likely to escape review because 9 unlawful detainer cases are tried quickly and quickly become moot, precluding interlocutory review.

10 I respectfully request that the Court of Appeals hear this case.

1 IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF WASHINGTON FOR THURSTON COUNTY

2 JOHN C. HAWTHORNE,

3 Plaintiff,

4 vs.

5 KRISTINA POMERLEAU,

6 Defendants.

No. 16-2-00038-34

ORDER ON SHOW CAUSE

8 This matter was heard this day on ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE. The plaintiff was 9 represented by Michael G. Gusa, Attorney at Law. The defendant appeared/failed to appear at the 02
10 show cause hearing in response to this Court's order to appear and show cause. Proof of service of 11 the Order to Show Cause is on file. NOW THEREFORE, the Court enters the following:

12 FINDINGS

13 1. On January 14, while the defendant was incarcerated in the City of Olympia jail,
14 plaintiff's counsel served the defendant with an amended summons, complaint and amended notice
15 under RCW 59.18.375. Security camera photographs from the jail show Ms. Pomerleau being

Exhibit "C"

1 served.

2 2. On January 19 the defendant was served with an order to appear on the January 29
3 unlawful detainer calendar and show cause why judgment should not be entered and a writ should 4 not issue.

5 3. The defendant ^{did} ~~elect~~ not to respond to the amended summons, answer the complaint (P2)
6 or respond to the amended notice under RCW 59.18.375. However, the plaintiff did not seek a 7 default judgment or judgment under RCW 59.18.375. Instead, the plaintiff obtained a judgment and 8 writ at the January 29 show cause hearing. Ms. Pomerleau ^{did} ~~elect~~ not to appear at the hearing. (P2)

9 4. Having ^{ed} ~~elect~~ not to respond to the amended summons, answer the complaint, (P2)
10 respond to the amended notice under RCW 59.18.375 or appear at the January 29 hearing, on 11 February 4, Ms. Pomerleau brought an ex parte motion to stay the writ.

12 5. In the motion, Ms. Pomerleau claimed:

13 I received a notice of writ this morning on my door saying I was to be out by the 5th,
14 this friday. there was no follow of due process, the only other pape work I got was 15 back in december. it was a 3 day pay or vacate I had already paid and put it in my 16 mailbox the next door neighbor attmited to taking my mail I moved in October 14.
17 I asked that day to have mr. Hawthorn fix my mail box so it would lock. he did so
18 in December an orginization paid the partial October & November plus security
19 Deposit. I have proof of paying December and Jan. I only got the order of writ
20 yesterday morning. And no other services.

21 That claim was false and the defendant knew it was false.

22 6. In reliance on the false claim referenced in Finding No. 5, the court stayed the writ
23 on the basis that "there is a dispute about service of process".

24 7. During a February 12 show cause hearing the defendant testified under oath as

1 follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. CROSS:

Q Ms. Pomerleau, do you recall Mr. Gusa coming to the jail in Olympia on January 14th?

A Yes.

Q Can you explain to the Court what happened at that time?

A An officer brought me – had come to get me. And brought me out to a door, opened the door on the other side of the door. There was a partition in the middle. He was on the other side. I saw him, and immediately said, “No,” turned around; and said, “I do not want to speak to him. I don’t want to speak to him. And the officer shut the door. And we – I went back to my cell. That was the entire – he – me being around him.

11

12

13

14

Q Did Mr. Gusa hand you any papers at that time?

15

A No.

16

Q Did anybody hand you a Summons and Complaint that day?

17

A No. I got no paperwork. The only paperwork I have ever received from Mr. Gusa was during the anti-harassment hearing, he did Exhibit A, which was a picture of me; and then I got a three-day pay or vacate in the mail, in December, I believe. And those are the only two documents that I received from – that, I am guessing, via Mr. Gusa.

18

20

21

22 That testimony was false and the defendant knew it was false.

23

8. As a result of Ms. Pomerleau’s knowingly false testimony, the Court ruled:

24

I am going to have you re-serve her. Thank you. That is my ruling: I am going to have you re-serve her with the Summons and Complaint. And that is where we are at. So that’s – I am going to enter a ruling requiring re-service --

25

1 9. In response to the Court's oral order, during the hearing, on the record, attorney Mary
2 Ann Strickler served Ms. Pomerleau with a second amended summons, complaint and second
3 amended notice under RCW 59.18.375.

4 10. During the hearing, Ms. Pomerleau acknowledged being served. The transcript states
5 as follows:

6 UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: You are served.

7 THE COURT: -- or service in the first place, and you'll start over. Thank you.

8 UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: It's over.

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MS. POMERLEAU: This -- is that the -- can that happen?

11 THE COURT: What is that?

12 So it's now up to Mr. Gusa to serve you, have you served with the Summons and 13 Complaint, if he wants to move forward in this case. Okay?

14 MS. POMERLEAU: Someone just walked up behind me and said, "You are served," and 15 threw something at me.

16 THE COURT: Okay. Perhaps you are served; I don't know, but that could happen.

17 MS. POMERLEAU: That is not -- that is not legal. I mean, if I --

18 THE COURT: Okay. That is not up to me to decide today. I made my ruling.

19 MS. POMERLEAU: I'm fine with that.

20 THE COURT: Okay. Essentially you won on this one, Ms. Pomerleau.

21 11. Ms. Pomerleau elected not to respond to the second amended summons or answer the

1 complaint served upon her February 12. On February 22, the court entered an order that Ms.
2 Pomerleau appear on the March 4 unlawful detainer calendar and show cause why a judgment should 3 not be entered and a writ should not be issued. Once again, Ms. Pomerleau ^{did} ~~elect~~ not to appear at R2
4 the hearing. Once again, a judgment was entered and a writ of restitution was issued.

5 12. Having failed to respond to the second amended summons, answer the complaint or 6 appear at the March 4 hearing, on March 10, Ms. Pomerleau ex parte sought a stay of the writ issued
7 March 4. In that motion Ms. Pomerleau again falsely stated that she was not served. The motion
8 states in part:

9 Again, he didn't serve me again after the court granted that he hadn't served me
10 before obtaining a writ previously.

11 Ms. Pomerleau made this knowingly false claim despite having been served with the second
12 amended summons and the complaint in response to the court's order, in open court, on the record,
13 in front of the court and despite at the time of service having acknowledged being served.

14 13. Service of this Show Cause order is appropriate by MAIL
15 in light of the defendant's repeated evasion of service. R2
CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

16 1. In the February 4 motion for stay and March 10 motion for stay, Ms. Pomerleau
17 violated Civil Rule 11.

18 2. In her February 12 testimony, Ms. Pomerleau ^{MAY HAVE} committed perjury. R2

19 3. Ms. Pomerleau's conduct constituted contempt of court.

20 4. Under RCW 7.21.040(2)(c) the court may request that the prosecuting attorney
21 commence an action for perjury. Good cause exists to request that the prosecuting attorney 22 commence an action for perjury.
