Part II: Narrative Explanation

This bill would change when interest accrues on judgements for tortious acts by a public agency from the date of entry of judgement to the date the cause of action occurred.

Part II.A – Brief Description of what the Measure does that has fiscal impact on the Courts

Section 1(3) – Would make judgements on tortious conduct of a public agency as defined in RCW 42.30.020 bear interest from the date of the cause of action instead of the entry of judgement.

Section 1(4) – Would make medical malpractice claims exempt from subsection (3) of this section. Interest would accrue from the date of written notice of the claim by the claimant or his or her representative to the malpractice liability insurer or the healthcare provider or the filing of the civil action, whichever occurs first.

Superior Court master answer would need updating and judicial education would be necessary. These changes could be managed within existing resources.
