Dear Chief Justice Fairhurst,

I am writing to offer comments on the proposed amendments to APR 28, the admission to practice rule that creates the LLLT in Washington State.

Having seen my family benefit from the services of a LLLT firm in the last year, I applaud that Legal Technicians exist and enthusiastically encourage the expansion of the scope of LLLTs. I specifically encourage the idea that LLLTs could help people with negotiations, mediations, and the handling real property matters and pensions. That our LLLT was not authorized to engage in simple negotiations on our behalf became very difficult for us.

I encourage the Washington State Supreme Court to expedite the proposed amendments to APR 28 as soon as possible and to add as much authority as possible to the license for the benefit of the public.

Sincerely,

Carol Odom
