I heard a presentation by Justice Whitener last week where she said there is room for everyone in the legal systems...if not we can create it.

Justice Whitener's commitment to justice is why I decided to pursue the Limited License Technician (LLLT) route. Law school was not a viable option due to family and monetary constraints.

With the creation of the LLLT program - doors opened up to people like me - people who don't live near a law school or don't have the ability to attend law school. There is not a lack of knowledge or ability - merely a lack of geographic mobility. This brings a new level of diversity - racially and economically - to the Washington State Bar. We can only be better for it.

There is room for re-in statement of the LLLT program. There is room for everyone at the table.

Consider reinstatement and amendments to the LLLT license - the need is there especially given he pandemic.

Thank you for your time and consideration.
