As a Washington State resident, I was disheartened to read that members of the Washington State Supreme Court plan on sunseting the Limited Legal License Technician (LLLT) program.

Wow. Legal guidance is not cheap, so many residents do not seek legal help. Our State pioneered a program to reach those who could not afford it. Your career and role on behalf of the State provides you with money, power, and privilege. Use that power and privilege to expand LLLT training and services, so the many marginalized citizens have the same opportunities that you do.
