Hello,

I have been a certified professional guardian in Washington State for over 7 years. Guardianship is a very unique profession which requires a complex set of skills, duties and activities. The scope of our position is broad and carries with it a great deal of responsibility and personal risk. I believe that only those who have worked as a professional guardian (and now Conservator) can really appreciate the challenges, obstacles, barriers and tasks that we are faced with on a daily basis. That has only increased with the recent adoption of the UGA.

I feel that we should have more representation on the Board that oversees our activities and establishes our Standards of Practice. We are one of very few professions with so few members on it's own regulatory/disciplinary board. I would like GR 23 to be amended as proposed.
