Our office has developed standard guidelines for redacting discovery, but we must still submit redacted discovery to the prosecuting attorney or the court for approval before providing the discovery to our clients. This causes unnecessary delay in our clients' ability to review discovery to assist in preparing their defense. While they wait for their own copies, our attorneys and investigators must spend time reviewing the discovery with our clients.

Respectfully,

Maialisa Vanyo (she/her)
Chief Deputy

Whatcom County Public Defender Office
