Hello,

I am writing in support of the case load standards proposed in Washington. I am a public defender in Colorado with too many cases, and the difficulties with effective representation at such a high load are well known. It is important to a system of justice that every person receive a legitimate defense and discussion with his or her attorney. That is not possible under the current regime and should change.

Thank you for considering my support of this initiative. I hope you do the right thing for the poorest and most vulnerable of your citizens—

Meredith O'Harris
