

From: OFFICE RECEPTIONIST, CLERK
To: Martinez, Jacquelynn
Subject: FW: Proposed Amendments to the Standards for Indigent Defense
Date: Wednesday, October 30, 2024 4:57:16 PM

---

From: Robin Emmans <robin.emmans@secondstreetlaw.com>
Sent: Wednesday, October 30, 2024 4:46 PM
To: OFFICE RECEPTIONIST, CLERK <SUPREME@COURTS.WA.GOV>
Subject: Proposed Amendments to the Standards for Indigent Defense

You don't often get email from robin.emmans@secondstreetlaw.com. Learn why this is important
External Email Warning! This email has originated from outside of the Washington State Courts Network. Do not click links or open attachments unless you recognize the sender, are expecting the email, and know the content is safe. If a link sends you to a website where you are asked to validate using your Account and Password, DO NOT DO SO! Instead, report the incident.

I am a private criminal defense attorney. I support caseload limits that allow my colleagues who provide indigent defense the same time and attention for each client that I am able to provide. I support my colleagues who live and breath indigent defense having the same level of income and quality of life balance that I am able to maintain by controlling my own caseload. The new limits are a good move in that direction. In the context of attorney shortages, the change may seem to exacerbate the problems of an already broken system by limiting what the attorneys we do have can do. However, continuing to accept a broken system and limp along without change is not a better answer. Burning out the experienced lawyers we have in place is not an answer. Anything we can do to retain and recruit attorneys is necessary. Allowing defense attorneys to simply do a good job is necessary.

Robin Emmans