

RAP 13.6
ACCEPTANCE OF REVIEW

The Supreme Court accepts discretionary review of a decision of the Court of Appeals by granting a motion for discretionary review or by granting a petition for review. Upon accepting discretionary review, the Supreme Court may specify the issue or issues as to which review is granted.

[Adopted effective July 1, 1976; Amended effective September 1, 1990.]