

Tribal Court Directory

Contacting Tribal Courts in your area:

This directory has been created to bridge communication efforts between State Judiciary and Tribal Judiciary.

Each court has designated court staff for initiating communication.

Please note that not all tribal codes are publicly available as many tribes have their own internal process for obtaining access to their code and court rules.

Each tribe has its own unique status and approach to justice. As sovereign nations, tribes are guaranteed the power to determine their form of government that includes creating and enforcing laws through their own police force, courts, and culturally appropriate programs. Correspondingly, tribes are also governed by U.S. laws and treaties resulting in intricate court response and accord. We invite you to learn more about the tribes of Washington as they continue building community, protecting cultural and natural resources, and improving lives.

If you have any questions regarding the directory or would like to inquire about updating contact information, please contact Mishani Jack-Gonzalez.

Thank you,
